Every child of the Saxon race is educated to wish to be first. It is our system; and a man comes to measure his greatness by the regrets envies and hatreds of his competitors.—Emerson.

Dry.
Although it's known the country's dry, One really opines That seems to be no reason why One cannot drink dry wines.

Feminine Strategy.
Aunt Caline says:—“Other day Rev. Loud Talker was out a-making some pasturage calls an’ he come along where little Amy Bility were a-standing by. Granma London’s a girl. When he come up spoke to Amy, an’ she smiled real bright an’ says she: “Please, Mr. Talker, will you open this gift for me?” she says. “Why, yes,” says he, some surprised, “but it is not tall gain an’ I should think you could easy reach it.” says he. “Oh yes sir, I could reach it all right,” says she, “but Granma has best had it painted an’ I didn’t want to get my hands all smeared up,” says she.

A Family Resemblance.
One thing we have wondered about a good deal is whether a lace curtain is entitled to be called lingerie.—Dallas News.

Well, there are those who would probably define lingerie as something that half conceals and half reveals.

One Expense Eliminated.
We read that it used to be a custom in the Middle Ages for persons to have candles of the same height, and weight as themselves made as a special devotional.

I saw a nurse-girl nurse a boy. I saw a sad-iron giving joy; And once, amid the Movies’ whirl, I saw a cowboy cow a girl.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Speculation in Sugar.
If as is charged there has been much speculation in sugar, with large quantities held back until the price control went off, the question arises whether this has occurred mostly in this country, or in the Cuban market.

In so far as such speculation has occurred in this country the government has been slow not to find hoarded stocks and make the profiteers discharge.

If the speculation has been principally in Cuba, there should be pressure on the Cuban government to stop it. Cuba is under United States tutelage. Its government should be made to realize that it puts itself in a bad light if it permits its business men to work any hold-up game.

GRADE CROSSINGS.

It used to be thought that eventually the great majority of grade crossings would be removed from the railroad lines. Many roads spent millions doing it. The Pennsylvania Public Service Commission notes how expensive this work has become, there being 12,000 such crossings in that one state. It suggests various means by which crossings at grades can be made less perilous.

Installing flagmen at crossings has also become burdensome. Formerly they could be hired for small sums but the roads usually have to pay about $5.00 a day now.

The people will have to stop spending great sums to protect careless people for their folly. Objects that obstruct the view should be removed from grade crossings so far as possible. Warning signs should be made conspicuous.

A campaign of education should be conducted to teach the people care in crossing railroad tracks. Caution is cheaper than highway bridges and flagmen.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Widespread movements to raise advertising rates are reported from among newspapers all over the country. The newspapers felt the rise in prices as quickly as anyone but they have been rather slow to demand corresponding advance in income.

Some publishers have taken too modest a view of their own importance. If they are printing good newspapers, their product is just as essential to the community as anything else. The people will never be satisfied to dispense with newspapers. The business men can't without seeing their home towns go down and their business decline.

If all business men realized the use they might make of advertising to draw in new trade, many newspapers could be successfully financed without much increase in rates. Still there are many that have always sold their space at far below its real worth. They could serve their communities better if they placed themselves on a more independent basis.

Automobile manufacturers claim they can assemble the parts of an automobile in seven minutes, but you can scatter them all around again in 11 seconds by crossing a railroad track without looking.

The politicians are asking for a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness, but they should remember that Moses was opposed to the use of pork.

Exchange Closed Half Hour.

New York, Dec. 29.—A half hour tieup of Manhattan subway, elevated and surface, due to a powerhouse accident, caused the New York stock exchange to close 30 minutes immediately after the opening today. It was announced the exchange would be reopened at 10:30. Few members were on hand at the opening, thousands of people being late for work.

Wall Street.

New York, Dec. 29.—The opening of today's stock market was postponed for half an hour because of a break down in a local subway system. First prices were higher in the main, last week's active movement in industries being resumed, steels, leathers, coppers and low grade rails were the strongest features with American Woolen leading last Saturday's spirited advance of spinners. Rails were irregular and shipings eased with several active equipments.

The market became very irregular within the first half hour, many gains being cancelled on the heaviness of rails and shipings. Selling of rails was probably prompted by the publication of numerous statements of November earnings, some of which disclosed large losses in net and operating incomes. Oils and tobacco also had a way to produce and stocks and equipments lost 1 to 1 1/2 points. General Motors forfeited its early advance but other shares of that class were steady. Further unsettlement was created before noon by lighter money tendencies, call loans opening at 12 per cent.

Granville, Dec. 29.—Dr. C. J. Baldwin, former pastor of the Granville Baptist church officiated at the wedding Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norris gave their youngest daughter, Miss Vera Norris, in marriage to Mr. Thomas Micahay of Newton, Massachusetts. Promptly at 6:30 p.m. Miss Letitia Wince of Newark took her place at the piano and accompanied Mrs. Ernest Shepardson, sister of the bride, who sang "Promise Me." To the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march immediately following, the bridal procession descended the aisle, led by the minister and the best man, Mr. Arthur Davidson of Cincinnati, waited with holly and mistletoe sent by Miss Lula McCarter of Knoxville, Tenn., and where Dr. Baldwin read the impressive ring service.

Preceding the bride who appeared on the arm of her father, was the matron of honor, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, sister, and Luella Davidson, little niece of the bride who was singing, joined in a call by the choir. The bride wore her trimmings of dark blue silverton with a hat of blue panne and mole fur with silver trimming, relieved by a corsage bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and alvium.

A dinner of several courses was served at which covers were laid for Dr. C. J. Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Mulcahy, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norris of Outsville, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norris and children, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norris and their daughter of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Price and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shepardson and two children of Granville. Mr. Mulcahy's gift to his bride was a string of pearls. Following the wedding journey the young couple will be at home at 2269 Hamilton Boulevard, Highland Park, Detroit.

Miss Norris is a graduate of the Granville high school and last June was graduated from the Protestant hospital, Columbus, as a qualified nurse. Miss Mulcahy is employed as an electrician in the Ford plant in Detroit.

Rev. C. E. Lapp preached in the Baptist church, Sunday morning and evening. His official business is to minister to Ohio churches which are without pastors. His sermon subject was "The Valley of Dry Bones." The soloist for the morning service was James Work, baritone of Buffalo, N. Y., who sang "The Lord is My Light" by Oly Speaks.

Double "Tarzan" Bill.
Owing to a minor arrival of Alhambra films last week, patrons get to see big double feature program at the Auditorium today, for both "Tarzan of the Apes" and "The Romance of Tarzan" are seen. You have to get to the theater early though, if you wish to see the entire program for there are many, many reels.

Beginning with the meeting of Tazan and Jane Porter, his predestined mate, in the heart of the African jungles, whether the beautiful American girl has accompanied her father in pursuit of his scientific studies, the drama takes its followers on the most romantic and thrilling journey through the land of make-believe that the heart could desire.

The same magnificent jungle scenery that gave a background of unique splendor to "Tarzan of the Apes," is shown in many of the big scenes of "The Romance of Tarzan," and hundreds of wild apes, leopards, lions, tigers, huge snakes and man-eating crocodiles add excitement and novelty to a number of incidents. Perhaps the most interesting of all Tarzan's jungle friends, however, is Tantor, the mammoth elephant, who rescues Tarzan from a war party of infuriated cannibals and carries him in safety to the seashore.

"The Romance of Tarzan" will be shown together with "Tarzan of the Apes" will be shown as a double feature at the Auditorium.

Music Free as Air.
Open air musical concerts are pre-eminently the people's and are becoming more popular and numerous daily. The symphony concerts furnish music for people who have time to spare and money to spend, but the free, open air concerts furnish the music the common people so greatly enjoy; and those who provide these free, open air concerts, those who furnish free music for

For twenty-five years the band of Al G. Field, the minstrel manager, has furnished music for the masses. A Sousa march is as enjoyable to the masses as Charlie Chaplin's comedy. The band of the minstrels renders the music they enjoy and their concerts have become popular everywhere.

The parade will take place tomorrow at noon with a concert on the square also one in the evening in front of the theater. Seats are now selling for both afternoon and evening performances.

The Birth of a Race.

The Auditorium for one day, Wednesday, offers a wonderful picture in "The Birth of a Race" said to be a great and spectacular photoplay, one that grips the interest from the first to the last moment, it satisfies and leaves much to carry away. The screenings will be continuous starting at 1:30 p.m.

Nazimova.

Nazimova, star of the sensational screen version of Edith Wherry's "The Red Lantern," which comes to the Auditorium theater Thursday for 3 days engagement, is recognized as one of the most distinguished actresses of the age.

She was born in Russian Crimea, in a town on the shore of the Black Sea, but as a child was taken to Switzerland, and in Geneva was instructed in the violin. At twelve she returned to Russia, and made her first public appearance by playing the violin solo at a Christmas concert in her native town. She then went to Odessa to continue her violin studies, but took her dramatic course instead. Her first stage appearance was under the direction of the great Stanislavsky, at the Artistic theater, Moscow.

As leading woman of a Russian stock company she played nearly 200 parts in a wide variety of productions.

Since coming to America, Nazimova has played both in Russian and English. Even since she came to the English speaking stage, her career has been a succession record of successes. In Abbe's "Doll House," "Hedge Gables" and "Little Evolv" she won the highest laurels.

She then turned to comedy and in "The Countess Coquette," made an equally strong impression.

"The Great Nazimova," then began her celebrated screen productions, "Revolution," "Out of the Fog," and her newest production, "The Red Lantern," which excels in power and beauty and elaboration her previous successes.

Charlie Chaplin in his latest Million Dollar Comedy.

LYRIC.

Worrell's Virginia Dells musical dramatic comedy company will continue for another week, at the Lyric theater.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN.

More fans will be glad to learn that Charlie Chaplin in his fourth million-dollar production "A Day's Pleasure" will come to Newark New Year's day, being displayed at Manager Fenberg's Auditorium for three days starting on that day. It is shown in conjunction with "The Red Lantern" the big Metro special in which Nazimova is the star. In "A Day's Pleasure," for one of the few times since he has been on the screen, Chaplin appears as the father of two bouncing twins, the human or the displaced, and the mother of a battered-and-beaten automobile of popular make. The theme of the production follows closely on the thought that often a day of recreation is the hardest day of the week.

Starting out in the family sliver, Chaplin undertakes a trip to the country. He gets no farther than the street intersection when what is declared to be one of the most ludicrous series of comedy incidents ever filmed takes place.

The family journeys forth to the river where it joins the merriment of an excursion. A rough voyage, a negro jazz band, hot button, and a very typical Charlie Chaplin fight are some of the incidents that make this angle of "A Day's Pleasure," one of extreme delight for an audience and Newark fans will get the laugh of their life on the three days that it is screened here.

ALIAMBRA.

"The Hidden Truth."

Helen Merrill is a dancing girl in a dance hall in one of the Western mining camps. She is beautiful, has a wonderful voice, and is the most popular girl in the camp. Helen becomes another mother in the resort. Myrtle Cadby, whose husband, a drunkard and a bully, treats her abusively.

Sheridan and "Snipe" Roach, mining sharpers, salt a mine and attempt to sell it. Charles Taylor, a rich New Yorker, sends George Reed, his mining expert, to investigate the proposition. Reed quickly sees through the fraud, but promises to say nothing if the profit is split three ways. Helen hears part of their plan, and knows that there is something wrong somewhere.

Myrtle kills her husband, when he tries to assault her as she lies ill in bed. The shock later kills her, but before she dies she gives Helen a letter and tells her to use it as an escape from the life she is leading. The letter is addressed to Charles Taylor, to whom Sheridan and Roach are trying to sell the salted mine. He was an old mining partner of Myrtle's father and intended to marry Myrtle when she came East, although he had never seen her.

Helen goes to the Taylor home and is taken for Myrtle. She lets the situation

Wm. S. Hart.

Wm. S. Hart, always a welcomed actor for Newark cinema fans, comes to the Alhambra for two days, starting Wednesday and is the holiday attraction for that theater. He is seen in the Thomas H. Ince production, "Breed of Men," a western comedy. This is a story of love, pathos, and comedy throughout and it's a feature that will please the most exacting movie fan.

Added features are promised for New Year's day.

GRAND.

The picture, "Beyond the Law," with Emmett Dalton, famous bandit of several years ago, leader of the band who attempted to rob the Coffeyville, Kas., bank, in which several of Emmett's brothers lost their lives, attracted large crowds at the Grand yesterday afternoon and evening. The picture is a powerful story of the life of the bandit.

In addition the picture, "George E. Stone and Margarette Courtot in 'Bound and Gagged,'" and "Fatty" Arbuckle appeared in "Fatty's Timid Bride." The same bill is presented at the Grand today.

GEM.

To a visitor at the Goldwyn Studios recently Madge Kennedy, now playing in "The Danger Game," which Goldwyn presents at the Gem theater Tuesday, confided that she had not a murmur of complaint or even the faintest note of reform to sound as the result of her still brief sojourn in a world new and wonderful to her—the silent drama.

LYRIC.

"The Winchester Woman," in which Alice Joyce is star, will be shown at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Joyce plays the role of a woman who is forced to change her name and seek new surroundings.

But This and Other Distressing Ills Soon Surrendered To Nerv-Worth.

This exceedingly strong statement was made at the Nerv-Worth drug store, Port Huron, Mich., by Mrs. Agnes Wilson, wife of a well known brick-mason, John M. Wilson.

Nerv-Worth Co.—I find Nerv-Worth just the proper medicine for nervous indigestion and sour stomach. Food soured in my stomach, causing a foul odor, and bad taste in my mouth.
My appetite was very poor, I was nervous and restless at night. The little sleep I did get seemed to me not restful.

Since taking some of your Nerv-Worth I have improved in every way.
Have a good appetite, sleep fine and get up in the morning feeling rested.
I thank you for Nerv-Worth.

COOK KILLS BANDIT.

Akron, Dec. 29.—An unidentified bandit, one of three who held up a Westerly avenue restaurant early today, was shot and killed by Mike De-coff, cook of a revolver duell which followed the robbery. The man took $54 from the cash register and fled when the cook opened fire. The dead man dropped to the pavement just outside the door.

EH LONG.

Elias E. Long, son of Jacob and Mary Long, was born in Thorn township, Perry county, Ohio, December

15, 1842 and departed this life the day before Christmas, 1919, at 1:30 in the morning, aged 77 years and nine days.

Long, a widower, gave Mr. Long to a Luther-ian home, where he was buried before he was two weeks old. He was structured in God's word and confirmed at the age of 17 by Pastor Jonathan

Weber. In the year 1866 he was married to Margaret Boyer, and by the blessing of God, this happy couple in 1916 celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, their children and many friends rejoicing with them. Three years have passed since then, and now

God has called him home. He has seen fit to put aside and say now we say: "His will be done." To this union eight children were born, four sons and four daughters. One daughter,

Leah, died in infancy and one son,

Henry, died in childhood.

In the strength of his manhood, Mr.

Long was a farmer, then a cancer appeared on his hand and the hand was amputated. That was 29 years ago. The sickness, which caused Mr. Long's death, was a complication between gradual and ending hastily. He was confined to his bed only one week.

There remain to mourn his departeture, a faithful wife and six children,

Mrs. Marion Hesler of Alexandria,

Luther Long of Newark, Noah and

Herbert Long of Thornville and the
